The Global Village is available for students who share a variety of upbringings and academic interests. The community will help educate students about the global environment they will enter upon graduation. The community, supported by Residence Life, the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures, and the Center for Global Education, will engage students in dialogue about culture, communication, languages, and a shared social responsibility.

Benefits

- Live with others who share interest in learning about cultures
- Build a close community and forge relationships with peers
- Participate in experiences outside the classroom that engage in the global community that exists in Washington, D.C.

Community Opportunities

As a resident of the Global Village you will have the opportunity to participate in a variety of events and activities both in and outside of the residence halls:

- Involvement in community events and activities throughout the year
- Attendance at regular community conversations that focus on a variety of culture
- Explore Washington, D.C. with the lens of international cultures

Reason. Faith. Service.
